If I Could Give The World A Gift...

If I could give the world a gift,

the gift I'd give would be

A presentation of things untouched —
peace and harmony.

In acceptance of this gift,

the world would be transformed

From crime to justice; hate to love — all cold hearts would be warmed.

In place of war there'd be rejoicing,
a gala of unity

A celebration of a compromise — throughout land, and sky, and sea.

Looking down through his eyes,

I'd see people being scorned

For all the chaos they themselves create — the halos would be horned.

If I could give the world a gift,

the gift I'd give would be

A presentation of things untouched —
peace and harmony.

If I Could Give The World A Gift

Sometimes I worry and wonder what to do

About the worldly battles that are affecting me and you.

And I get to thinking of the way
it ought to be;

I'd like to care for all and have all care for me.

So if I could give the world a gift,

I'd give the gift of love.

For love mellow, grows and heals,
And helps us rise above

The struggles and differences that mount,
With a "treasure trove" of values that

One could never count.

We have to love our fellow man

Whatever or whoever he may be,

For only this can bring world trust,
peace and security.

We have to give our caring best

In the chain we weave in life,

Only adding links of love and peace
Instead of wrath and strife.

"Love is patient, kind and true never jealous, or envious, never boastful or proud, never naughty or selfish or rude. Love does not demand its own way. It is not irritable or touchy. It does not hold grudges and will hardly notice when others do wrong. It is never glad about injustice, but rejoices whenever truth wins out." I Corinthians 3:4-6 (LB-The Way).

Love assures peace.

Love stabilizes.

Love is magic.

Love is for the world.

LEGEND '68

PENNSAUKEN HIGH SCHOOL

PENNSAUKEN, N.J.

DEDICATION

June, 1968

Dear Mr. Tomasco,

In gratitude for your services to Pennsauken High School over the past years, we, the Class of '68, feel extremely privileged to dedicate the '68 Legend to you.

Your accomplishments in the years you have been a member of PHS' faculty have been tremendous. Besides being an irreplaceable member of the faculty, you have been advisor to the Student Council and the Key Club, two of the most important and influential clubs in the school.

Because of your leadership and guidance, the Pennsauken chapter of Key Club has become one of the most respected chapters in the state and Student Council has grown to a true representative body of the students. No problem of either club has been too difficult or time-consuming for you to handle. You have executed judgment fairly and made yourself worthy of the trust of all of the students.

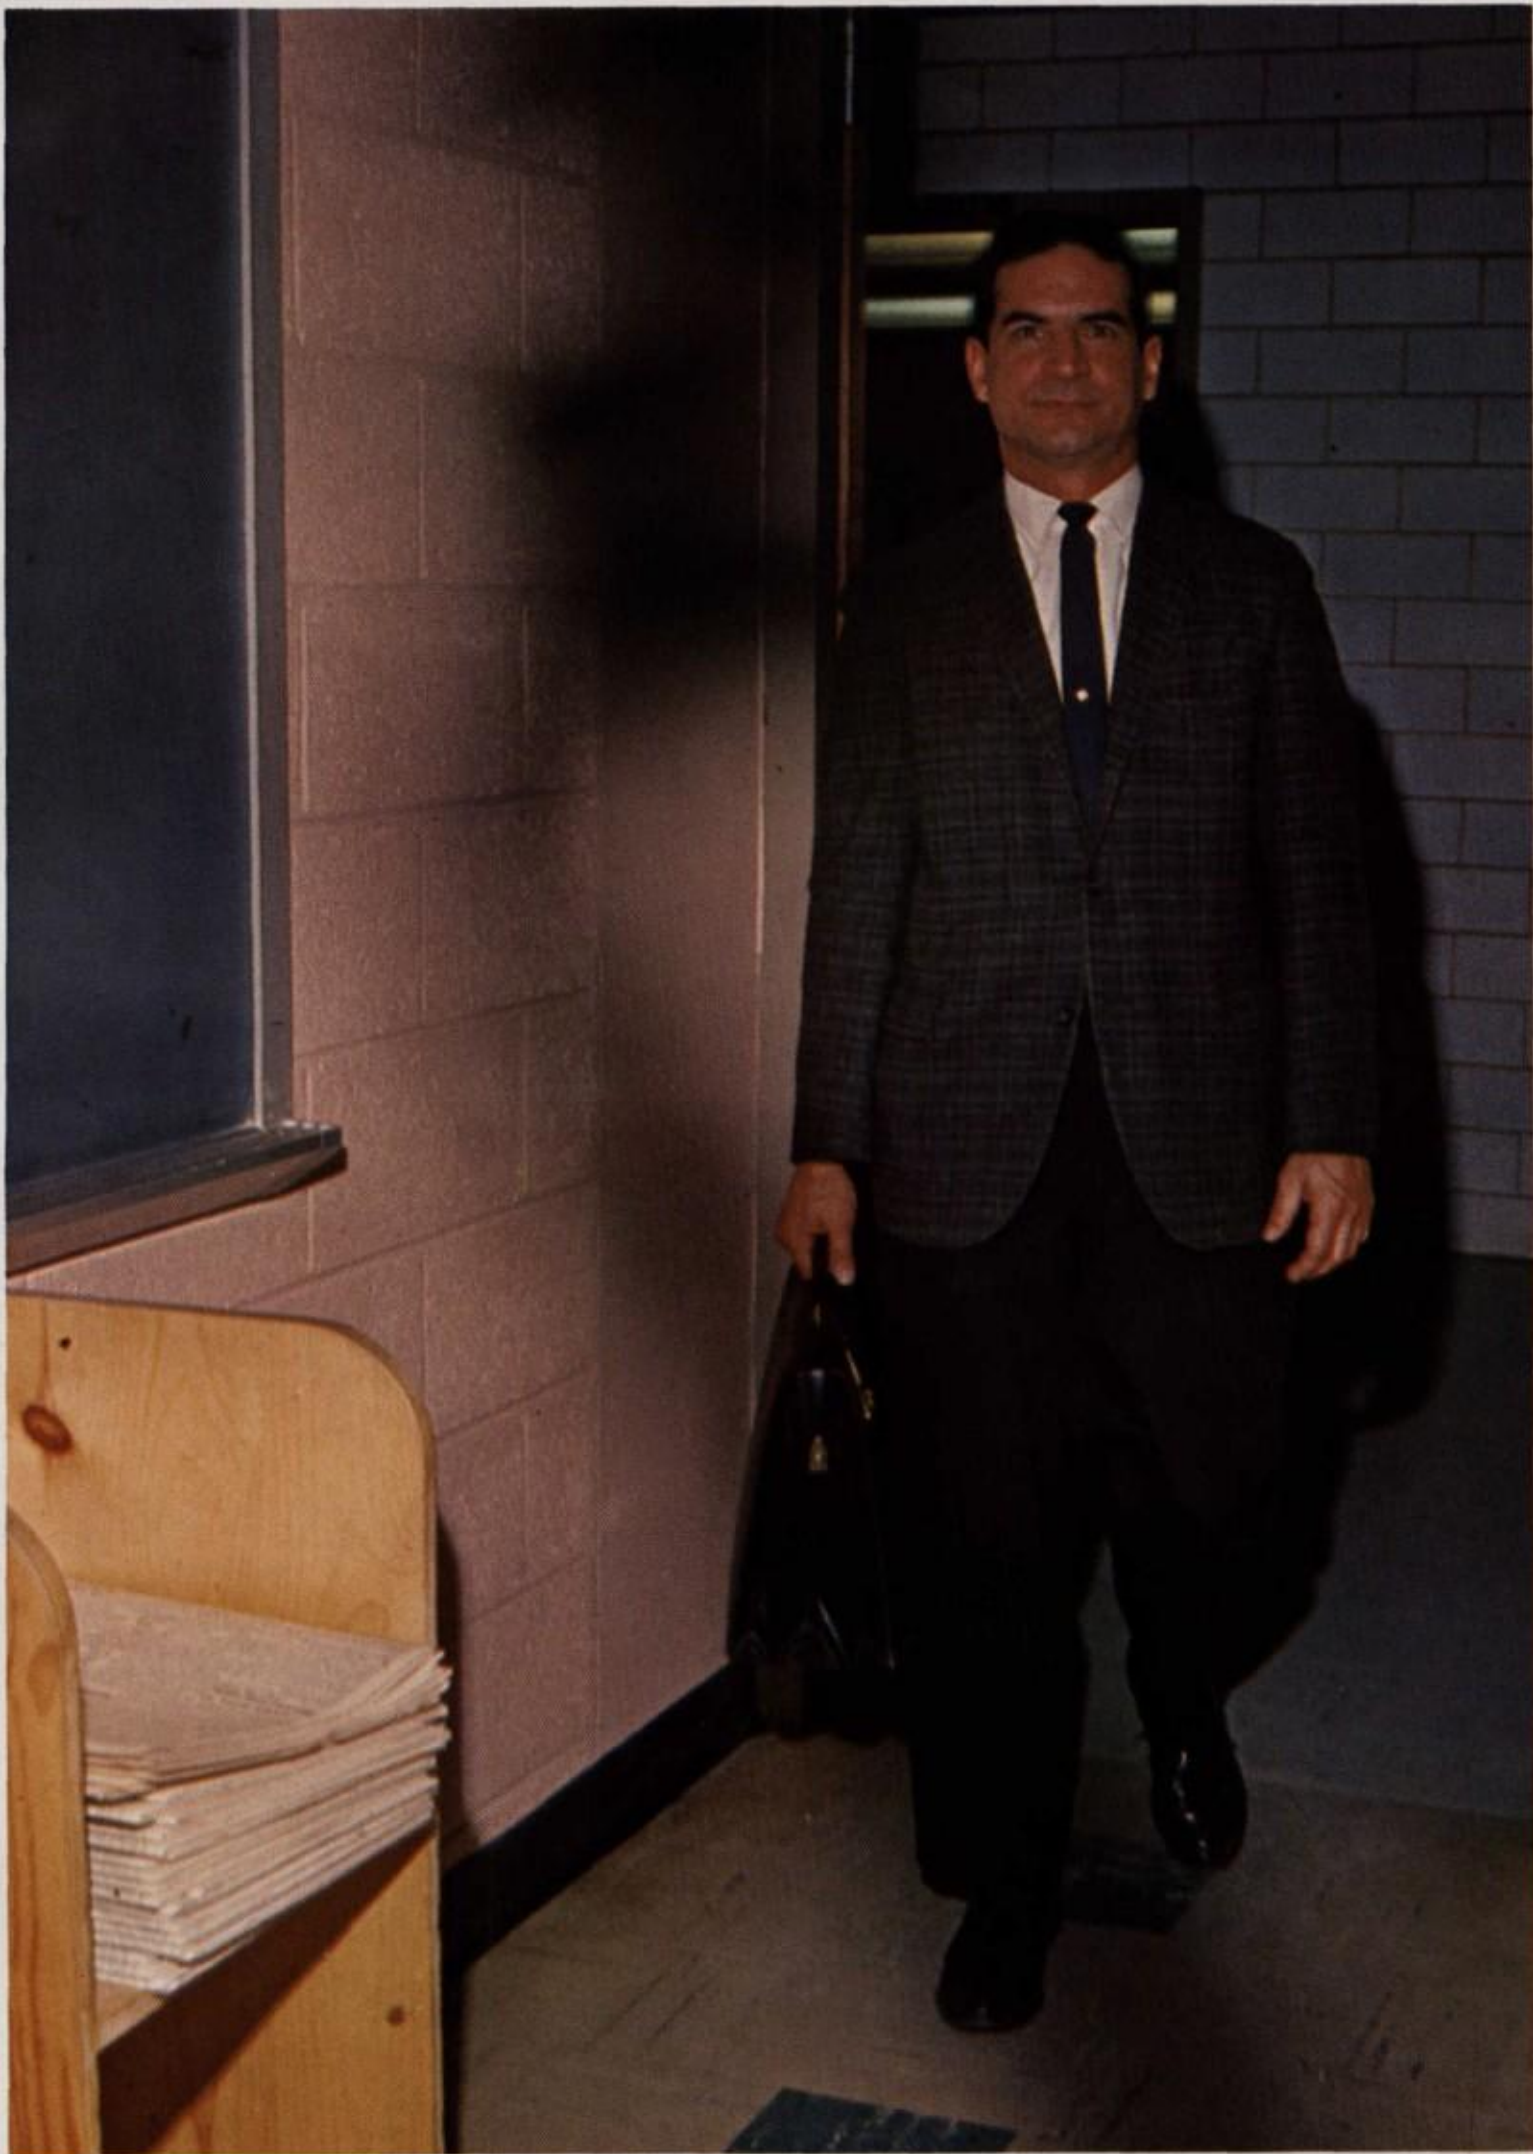

You have put more time into the students' activities than any student has put into them himself. But perhaps most important is the fact that through your efforts, you have succeeded in urging others to participate.

Hopefully every member of the Student Council and Key Club will remember decorating for dances and selling programs and shakers at football games. We know you will.

The debt that is owed to you by the PHS students can never be repaid. Each one of us realizes how much your services are appreciated, even though few of us have ever said "Thank you!"

three

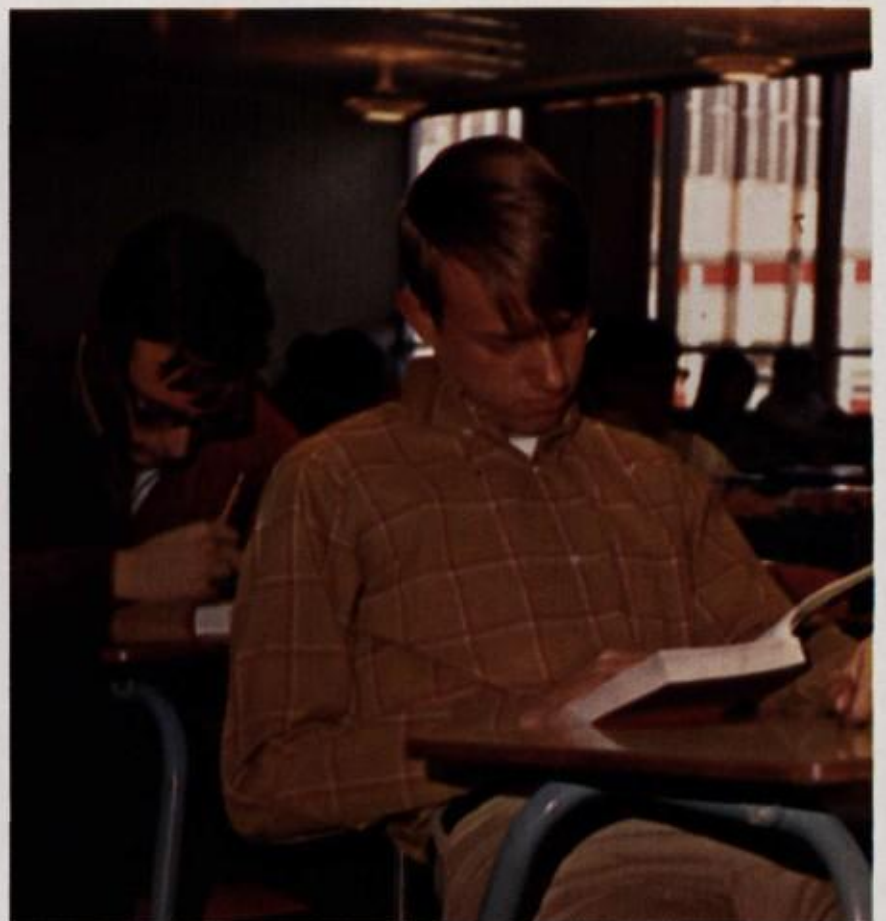

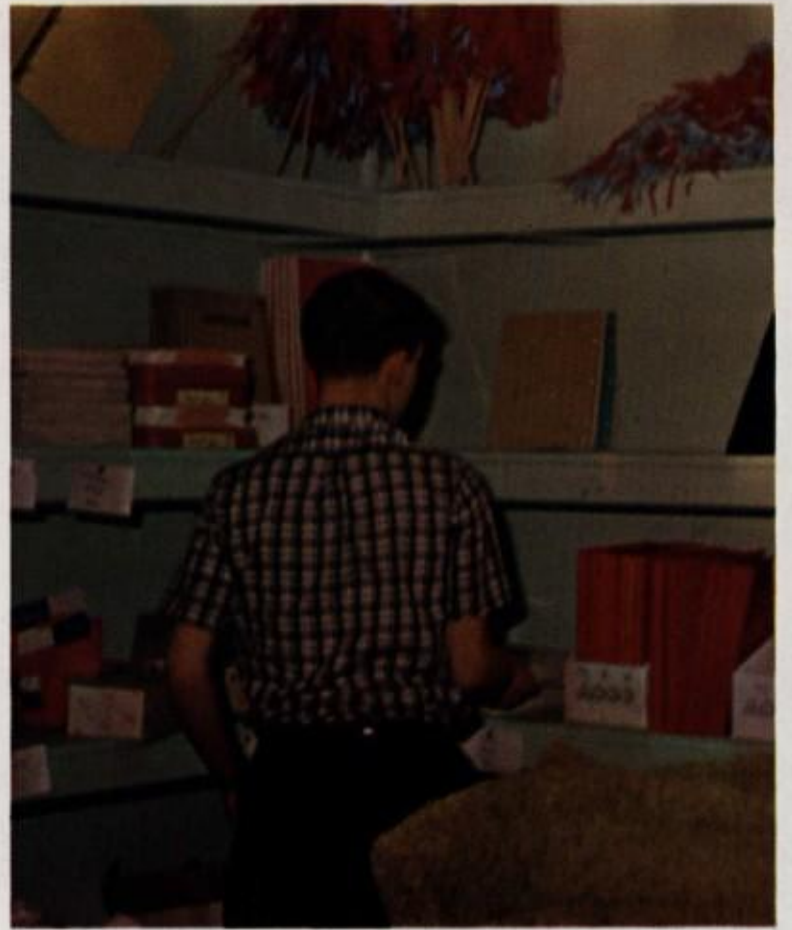

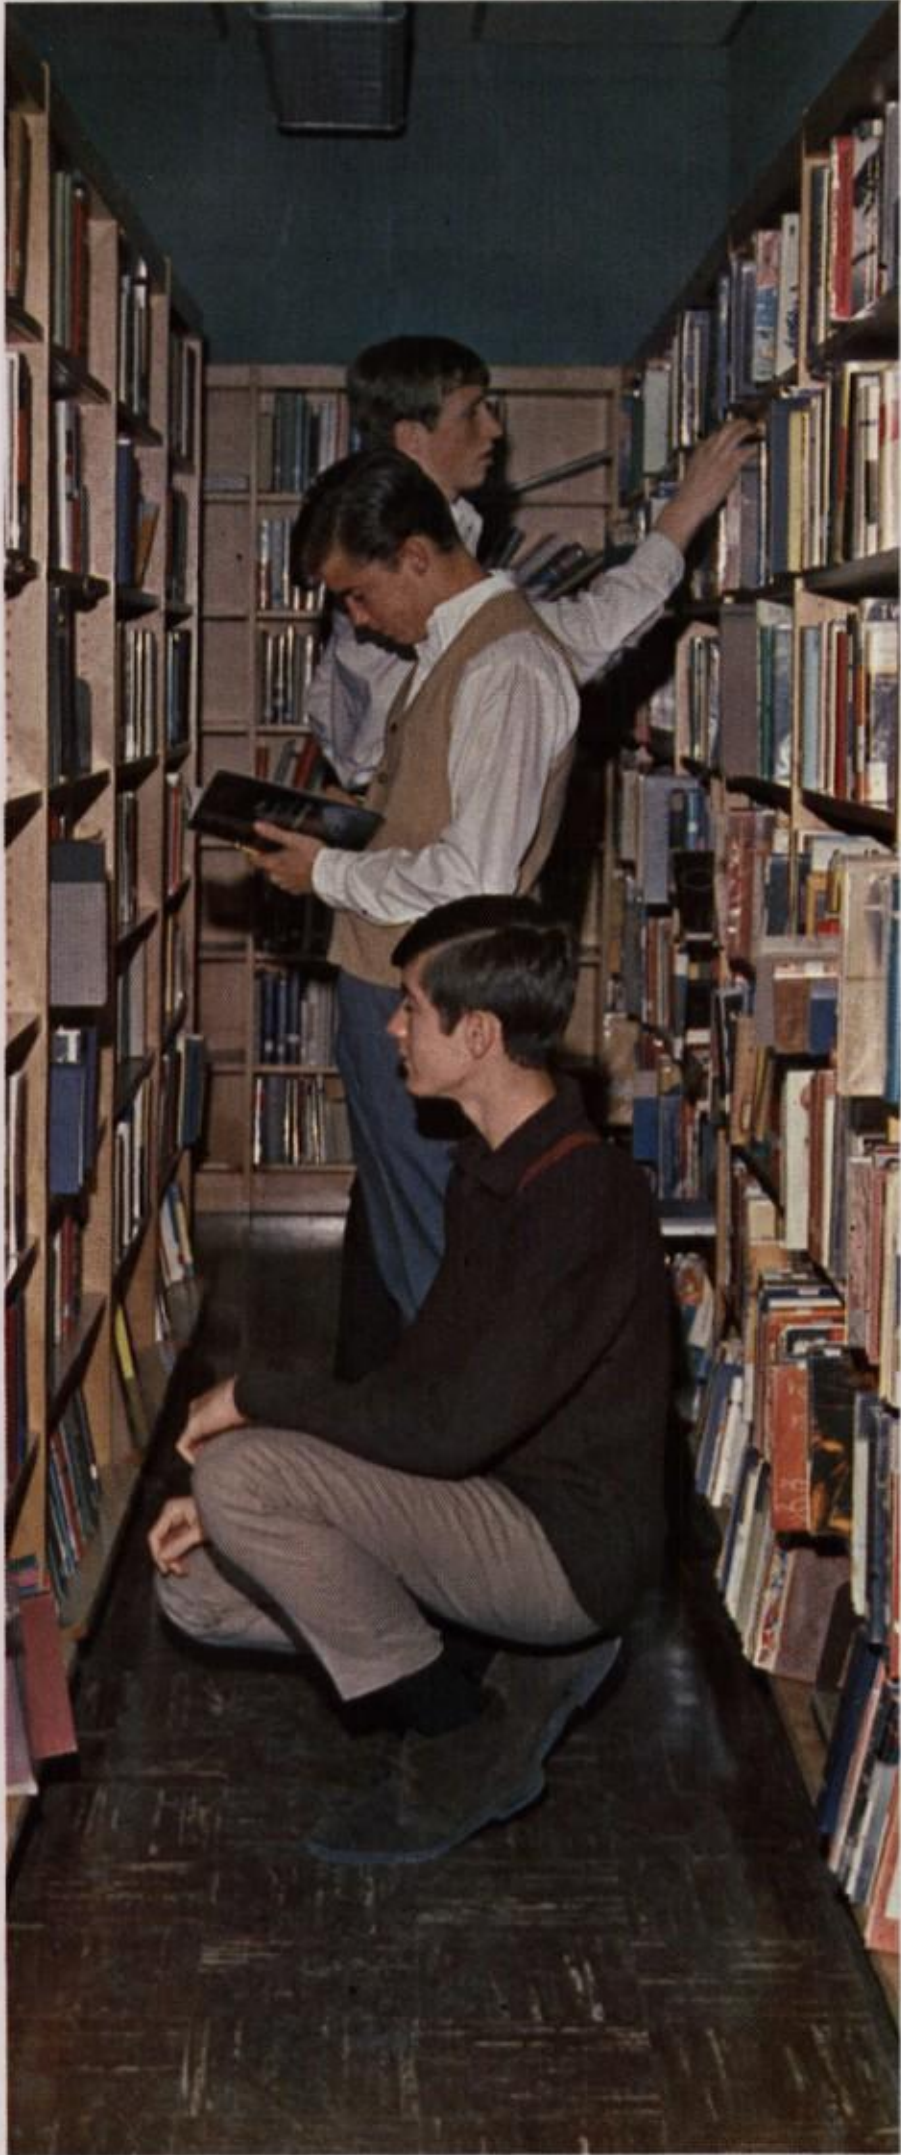

To listen, to observe, and to learn are the students' three objectives in the classroom. With an open mind, we gain knowledge through experiencing and listening to our teachers who impart their knowledge to us so that we may leave Pennsauken better prepared for the world of today.

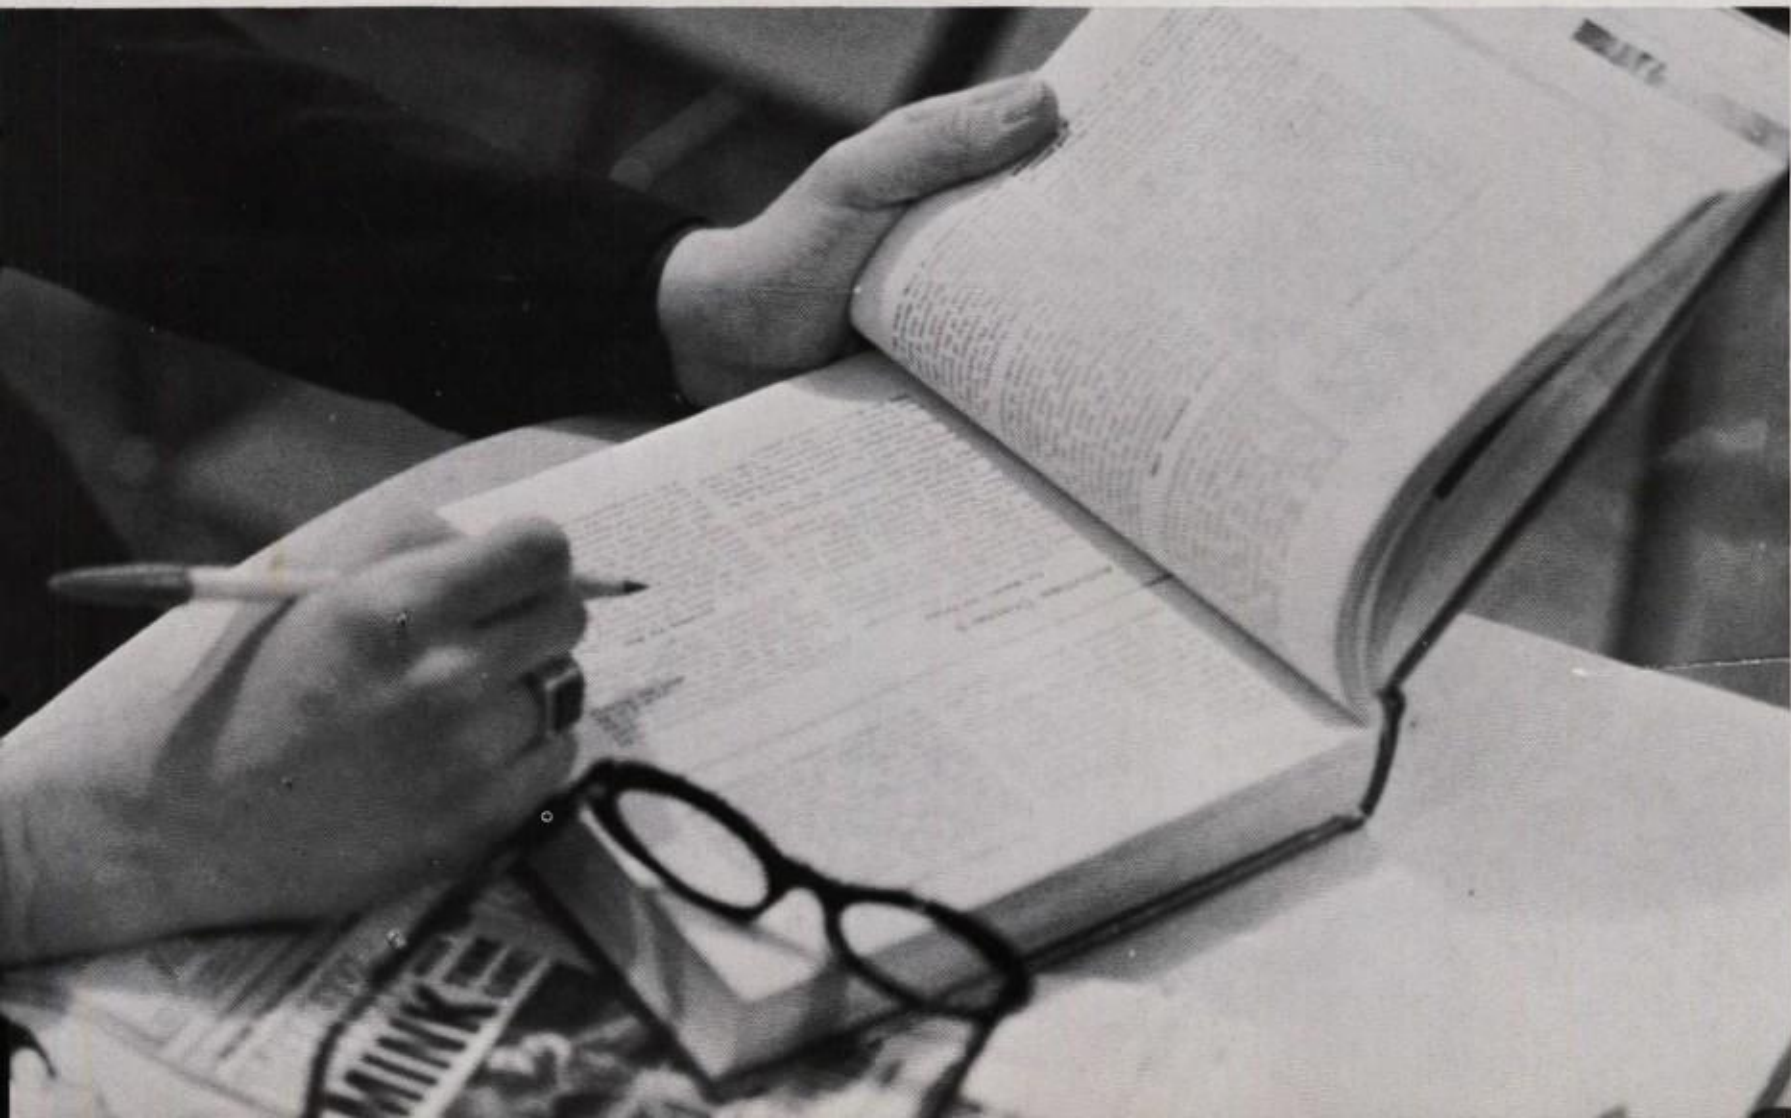

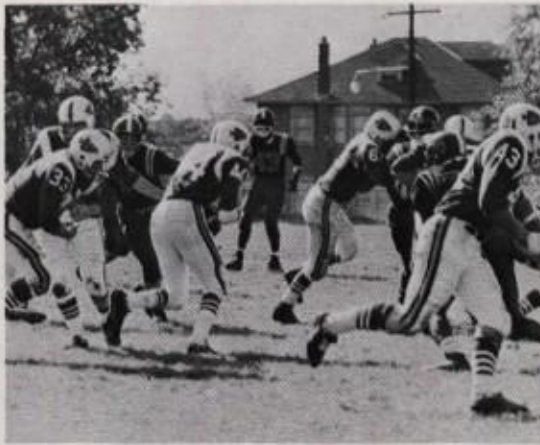

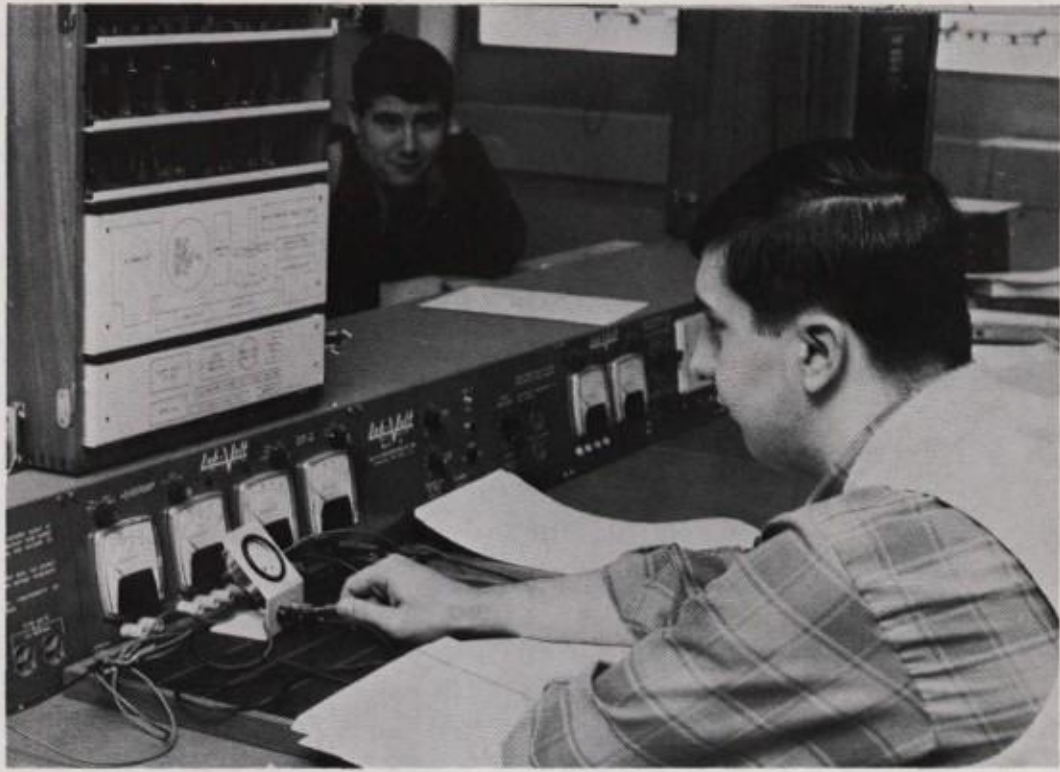

After years of questioning and searching for answers, we are finally rewarded with the gift of knowledge. This gift is a direct result of our endeavors at Pennsauken. The varied experiences which we have encountered as students of PHS, have made us socially and mentally prepared for our future.

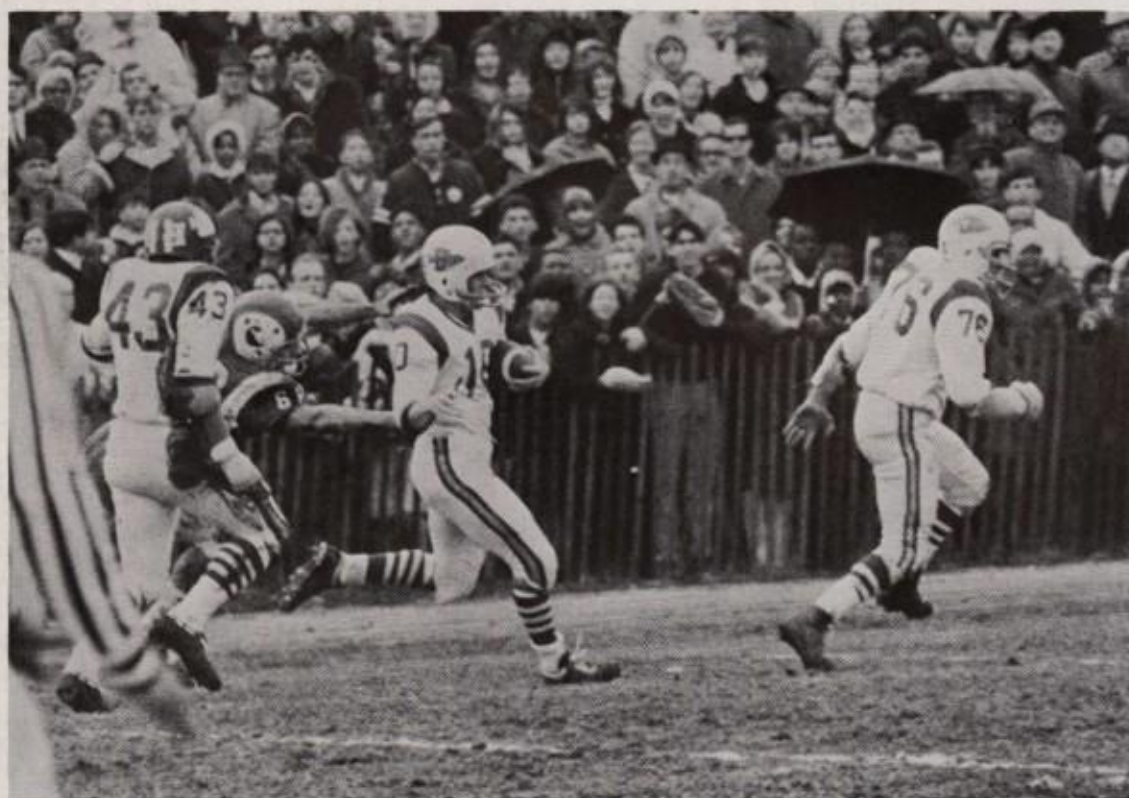

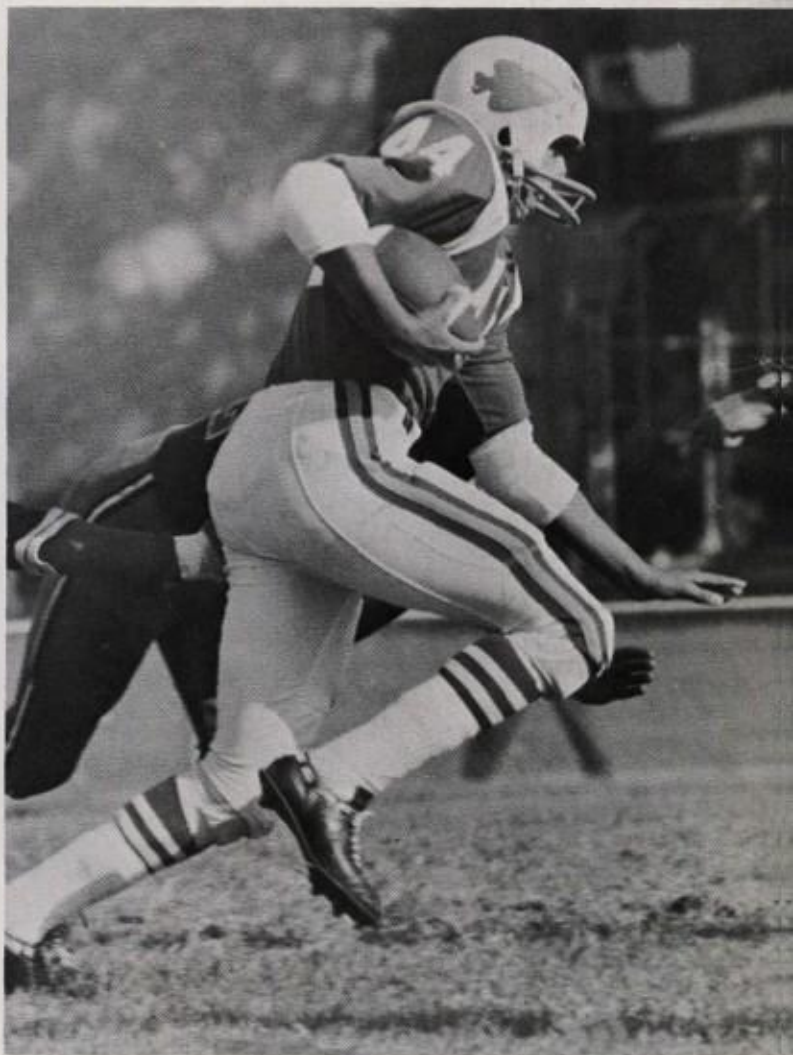

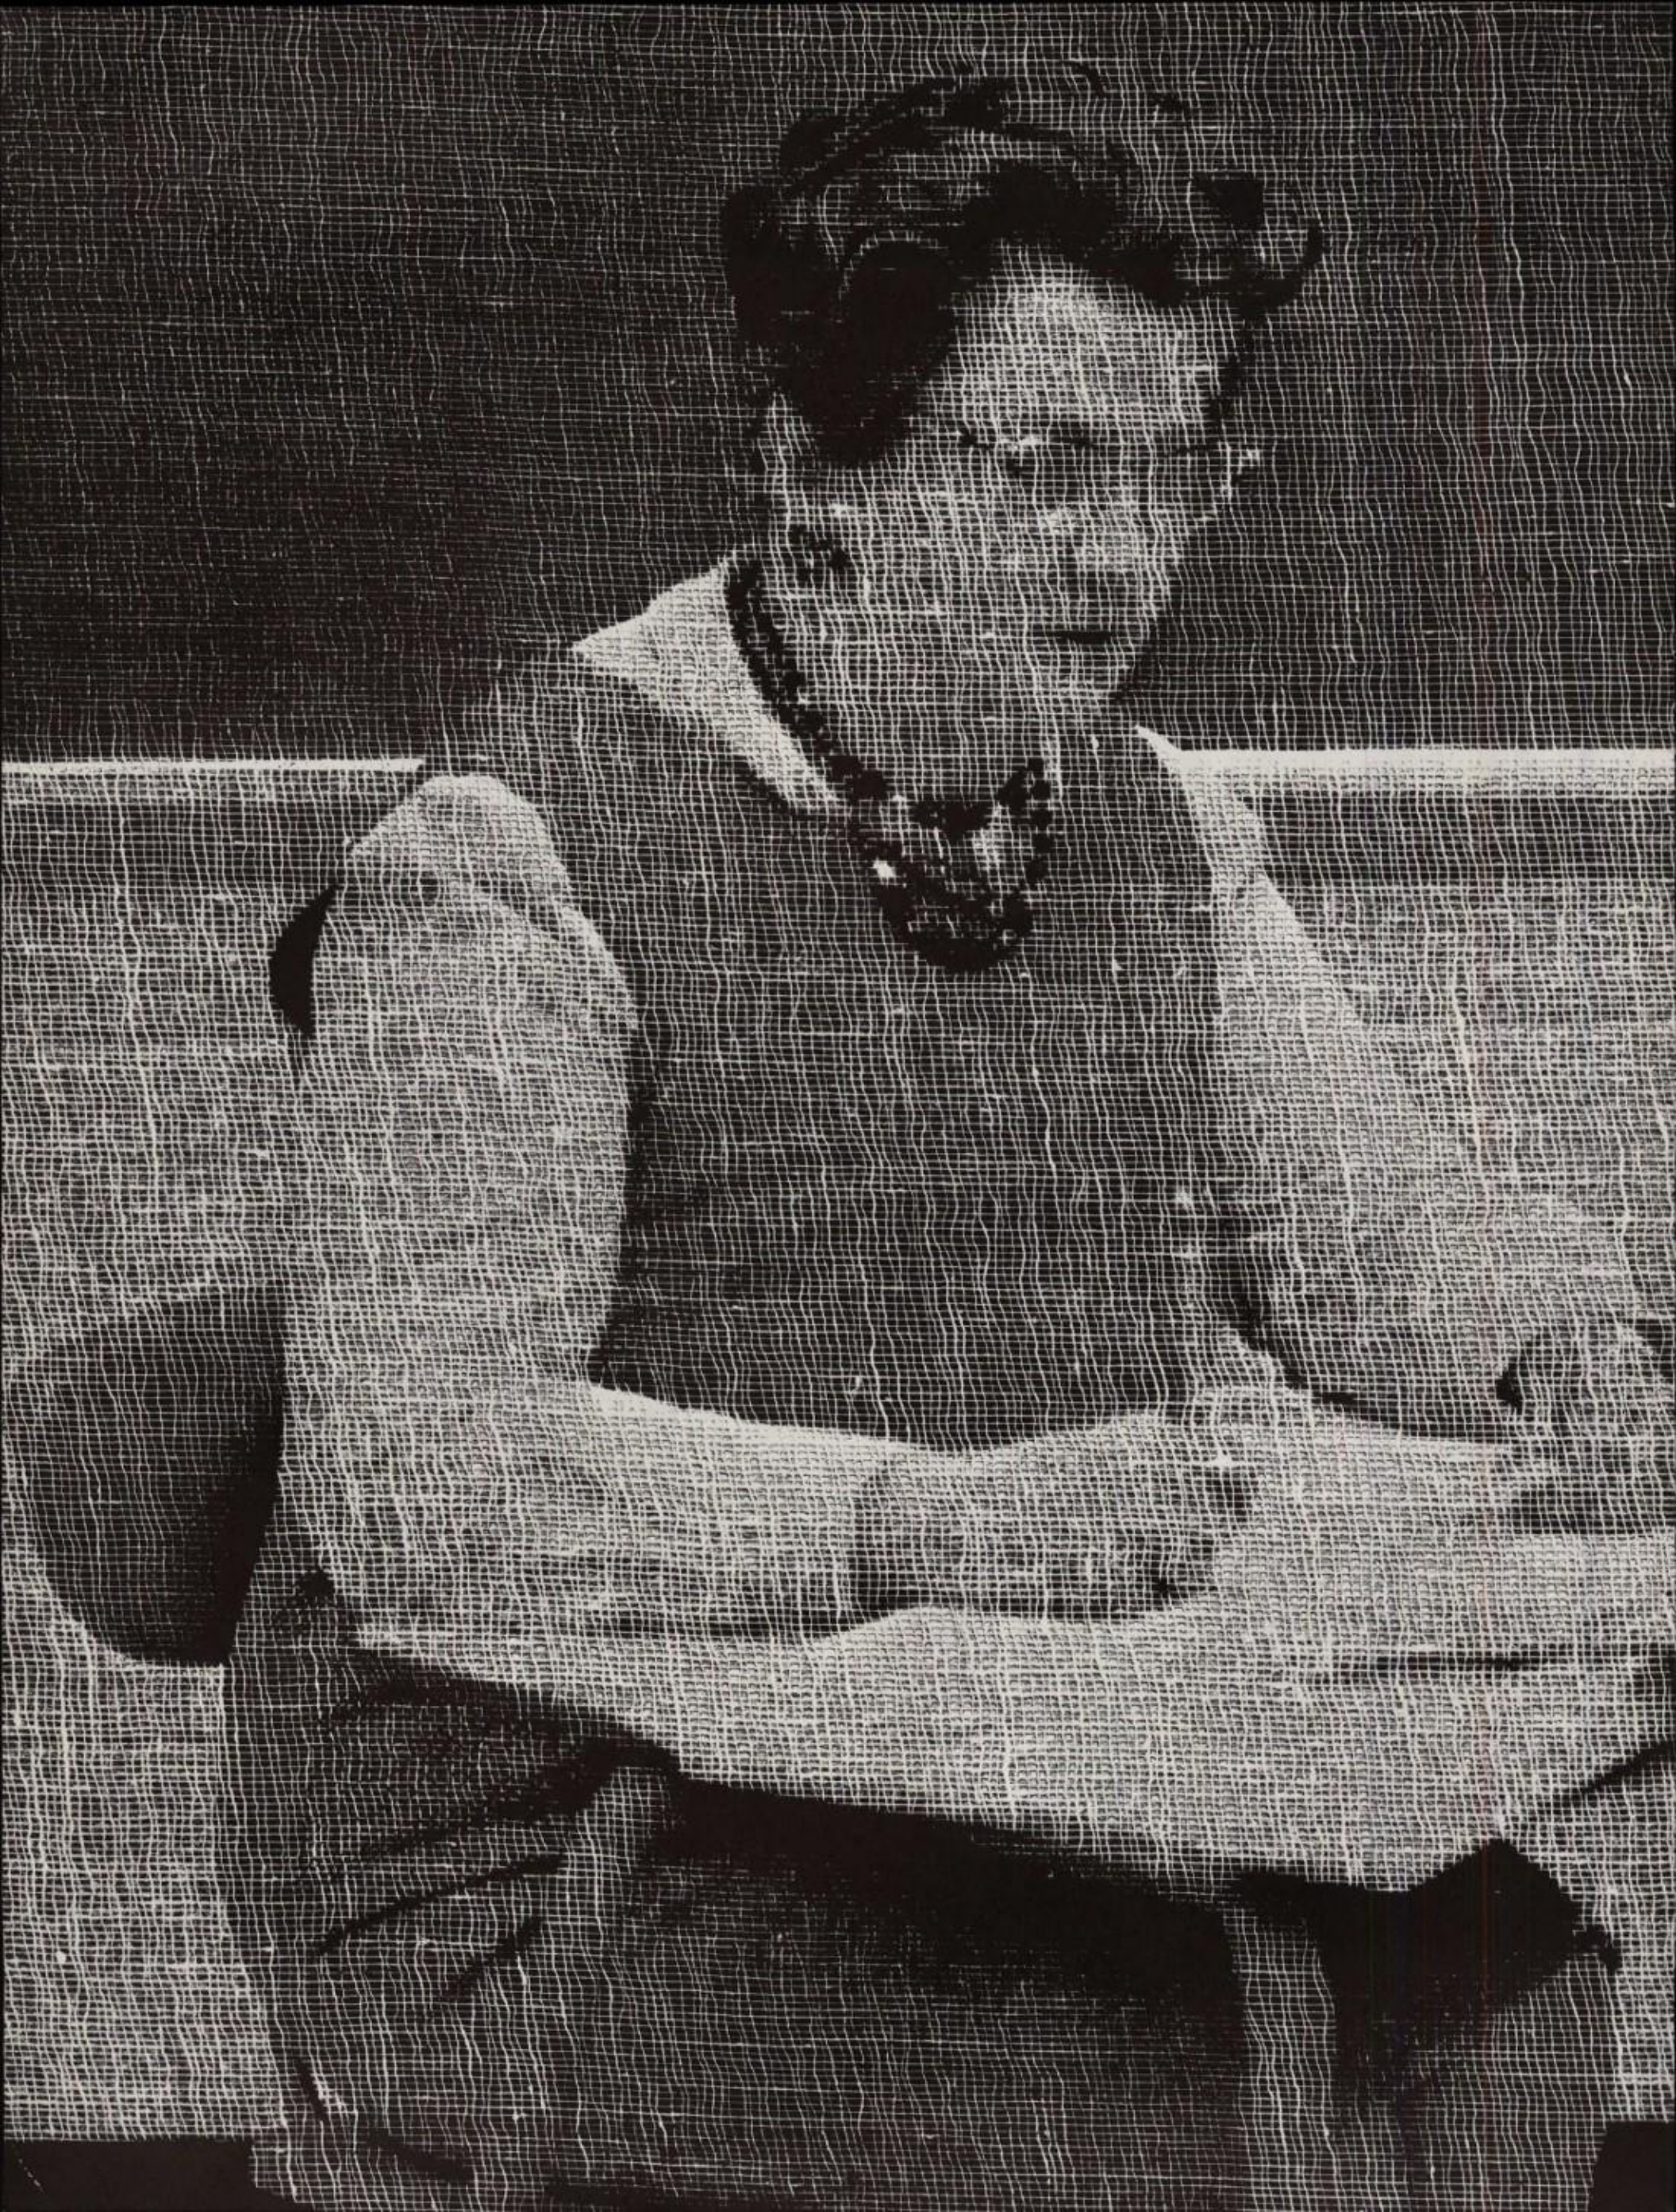

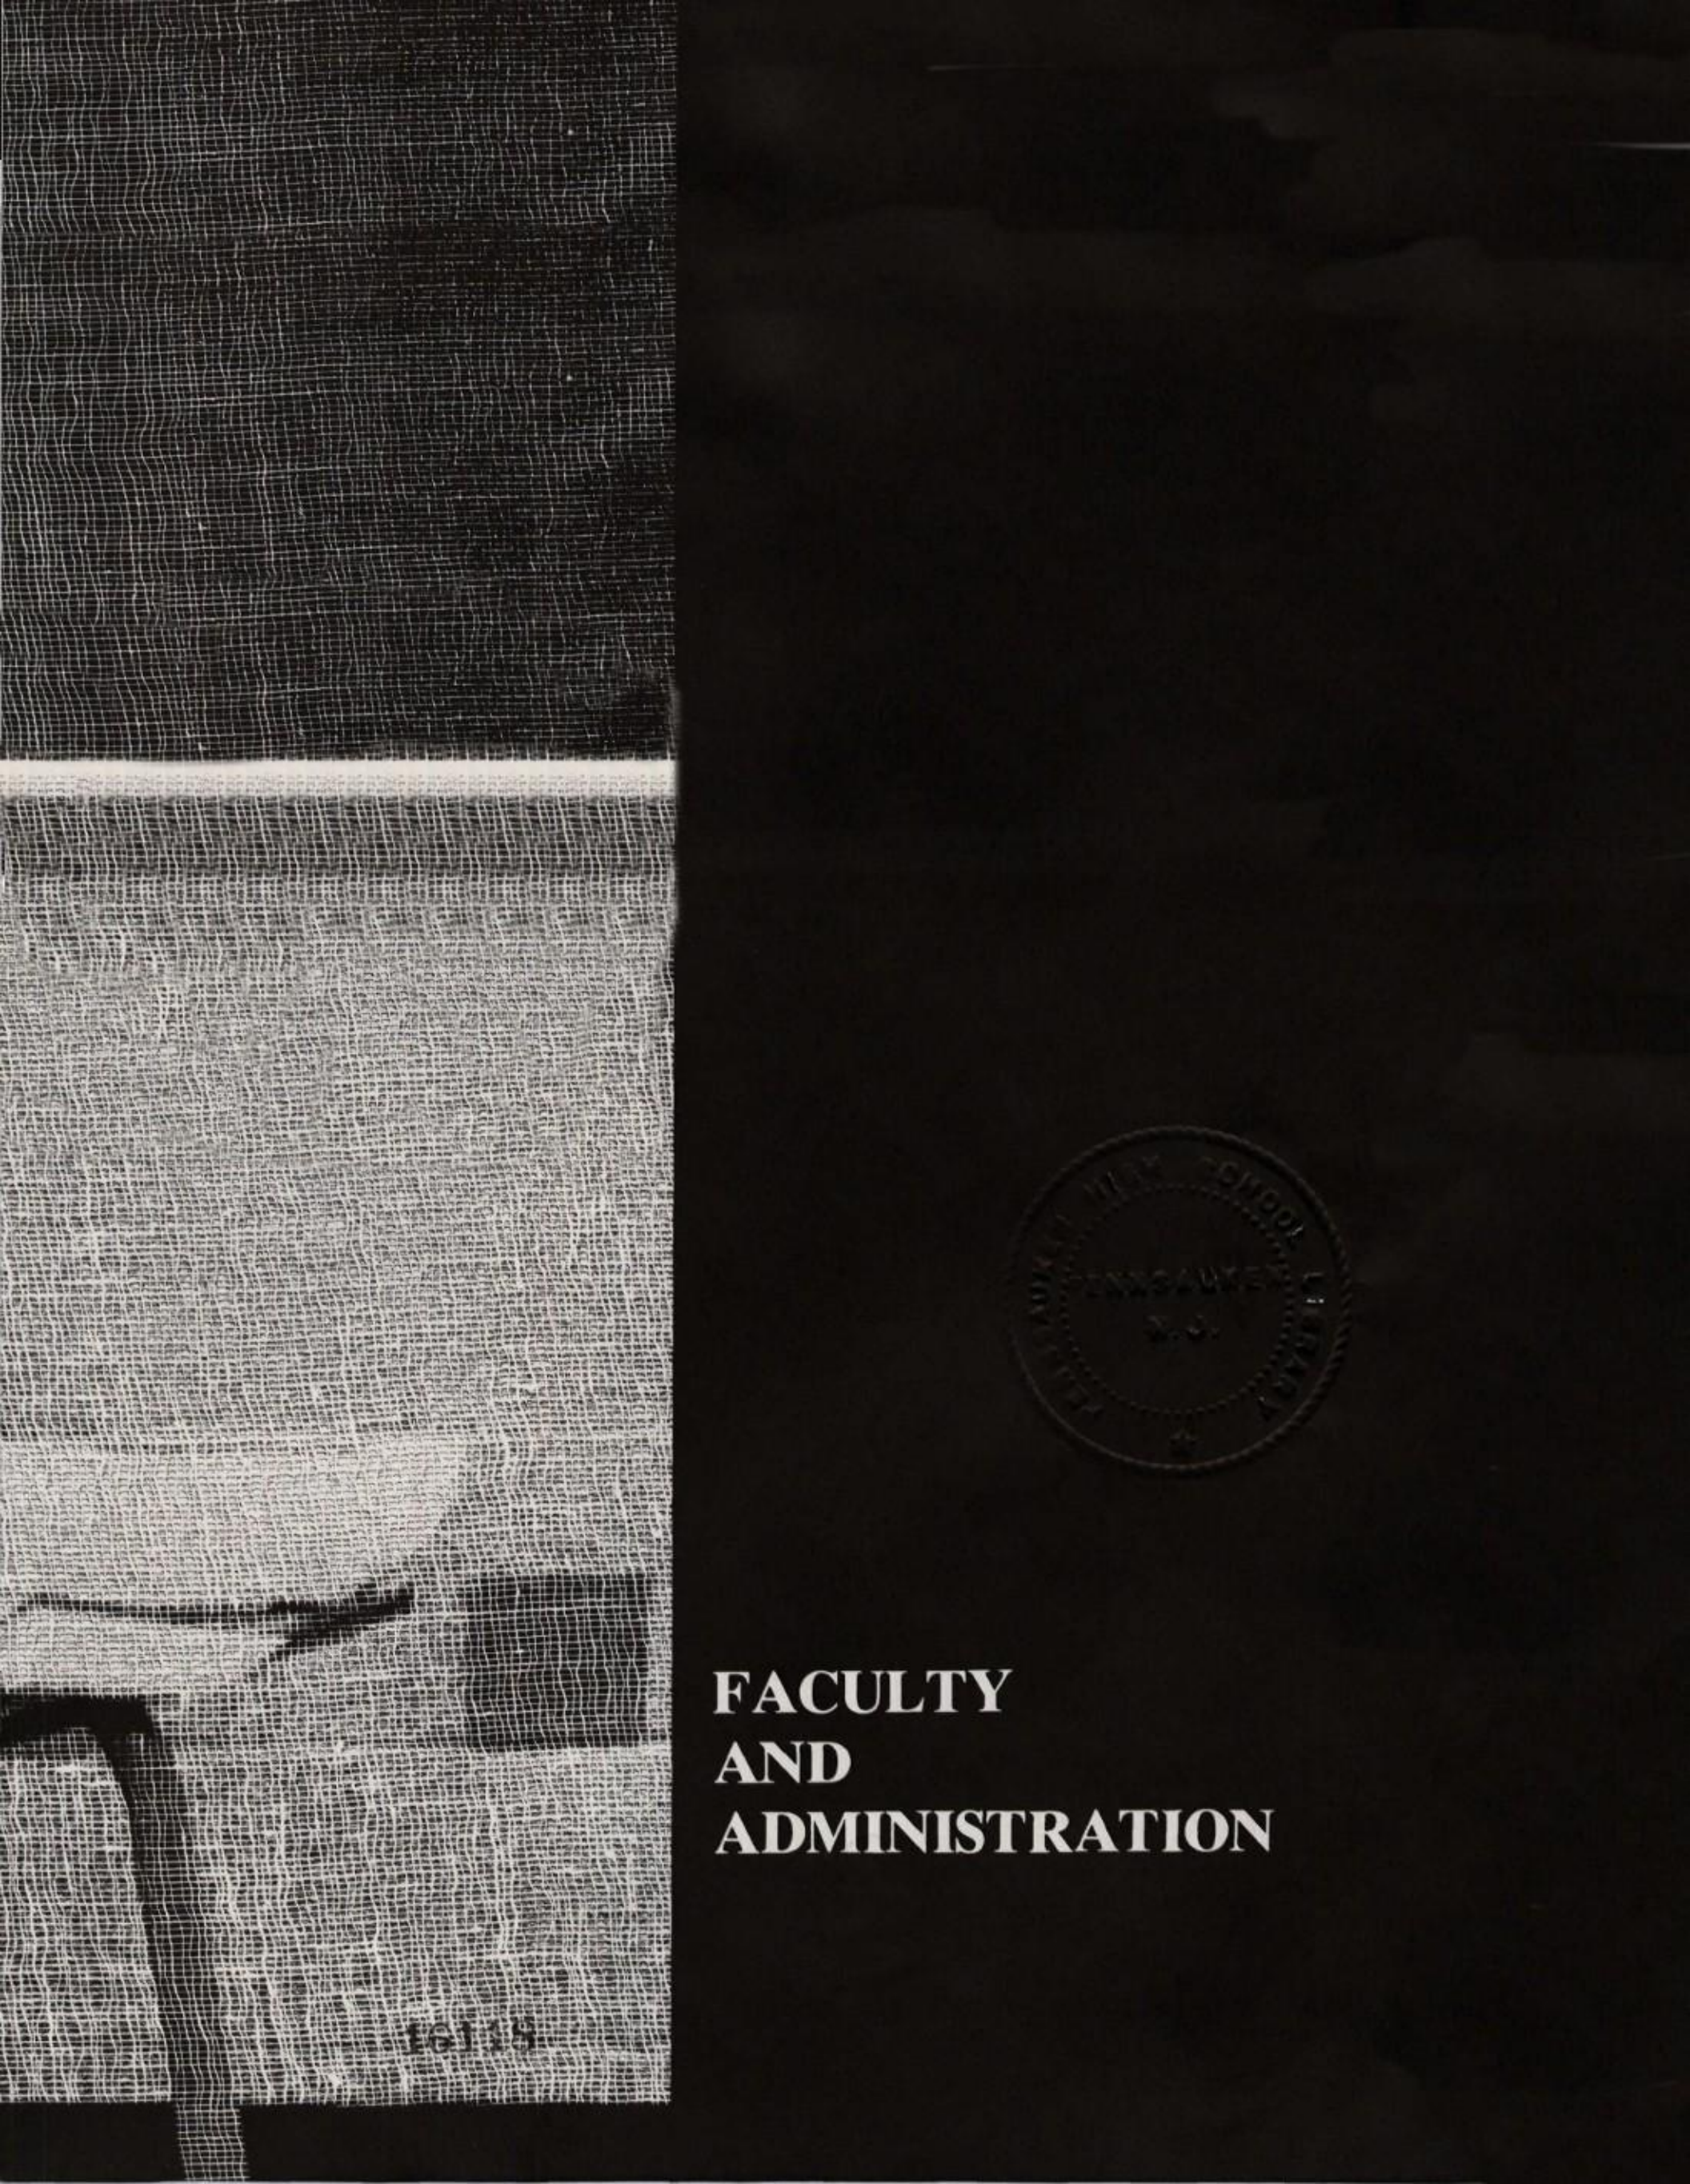

PENNSAUKEN HIGH SCHOOL strives to educate its students in every aspect: intellectually, culturally, socially, and athletically. As an institute of learning, its primary objectives are achieved in the classroom, yet extracurricular activities play a major role in developing the character of the individual.

The student finds vast areas to explore in every subject. The courses are designed not only to satisfy the need for knowledge, but also to stimulate a desire for further study. We have not only been enriched academically during our four years here at PHS, we have also been given numerous opportunities to develop our interests and abilities, thus emerging as complete individuals.

As we have grown, so has our school; evolving those ideals and traditions which set Pennsauken apart as a unique educational institution.

*"I count myself in nothing else so happy
As in a soul remembering my good Friends"*

EXCHANGE STUDENT

Although short, this year was the most exciting and impressive year that I have had in my life.

When I went to school on the first day, I did not know what to do and I could not understand what anyone was talking about. It was so different from our Japanese high school and the Japanese language. I had to move from one class to another within four minutes with many heavy books and a big notebook. Sometimes I dropped them down on the floor. When I got used to them, it was June, when I had to leave school.

I have many memories, both happy and sad—lunch with the guys, football games, pep rallies, homework . . . everything. But now, even sad memories become happy ones.

I feel sorry that I did not show you much about Japan. I was so busy learning about your country. It is such a big, great, energetic country. Every time I thought of you Americans, I regretted what a narrow-minded person I was. I found we had to be good friends with everyone in the world. I can tell every person in Japan these things with confidence.

Lastly, I would like to say "Thank you" to everyone of you, especially Dave, Mr. and Mrs. Getsinger, and the American Field Service, who gave me such a wonderful chance to live in the United States of America.

I can never forget this indescribable year.

I hope we will meet again.

Sayonara.

The musical comedy Little Me, which starred Sid Caesar on Broadway in 1961, was revived by the class of '68 this year. As in the past two years, the senior show was adapted, produced, and directed by Mr. Stanley Kotzen. Little Me had a larger cast and a longer production period than any play previously performed at Pennsauken High. The culmination of the hard work of the cast, the director, the music department, the stage crew, and others involved were four highly successful and entertaining performances of a senior play which will long be remembered.

The Queen and her court—Donna Heyman, Millie Salvo, Michele Kozak (Queen), Kathy Edwards, Debbie Gettis, and Jennifer Jacobs.

JUNIOR PROM

Polynesian Paradise

June 3, 1967

As each of us grows older, all of our high school memories become pleasant ones. But perhaps one of the most pleasant will be that of our first high school prom. The cafeteria was the setting, although many people could not believe it. The place where we had eaten lunch everyday had indeed been transformed into a Polynesian Paradise. Atmosphere had been created by a moonlit sky, bamboo walls, a thatched roof, an old wooden bridge, and delicious refreshments. For those of us who had been present, the Junior Prom will forever justifiably hold a special place in our memories.

STUDENT COUNCIL

The Student Council has continued to function smoothly this year under the leadership of President Joe Benci. A high level of cooperation has been achieved between the officers, the Executive Committee, the representatives, and the student body. As a result, the operation of the Student Store, the Silver Ball, the penny drive to support the orphan, Aluzio Gomez, and various other projects have been successful. The spirit of the council and the school has undoubtedly been revitalized this year.

KEY CLUB

The Key Club's first year with Mr. John Funston as advisor has been extremely successful. Funds raised by the club's concession stand on the football field and its sponsorship of the Homecoming Dance financed a variety of projects aiding both school and community. The members continued their tradition of helping handicapped children and returned to the briefly interrupted custom of making generous gifts to the school. These gifts have included a film strip library and recording equipment for the library. This year was marked by the first showings of the club-produced guidance film, "A Day at Pennsauken High," and the term of Ray Milavsky as a state Lieutenant Governor.

SPECIAL HONORS

This fine group of students represented Pennsauken at Boys' and Girls' State on the Rutgers and Douglass campuses, at the United Nations, and at the Girls' Citizenship Institute. Through these activities, they have learned of the problems of government, the meaning of citizenship, and the part they are to play in their country's future. We were especially honored to have a member of the Senior Class chosen Camden County Junior Miss.

LIBRARY COUNCIL

Each member of the Library Council spends at least two study halls a week helping with routine procedures in the library. The outstanding achievements of the Library Council this year include a cookie sale at the Adult School and a Christmas party for underprivileged children. It also contributes annually to the Foreign Exchange Student program.

FUTURE TEACHERS OF AMERICA

The Pennsauken Chapter of the Future Teachers of America tries to instill in its members the importance of educating young people today. The monthly meetings provide the basis for the club's many activities, such as giving a Valentine Tea for the faculty, making a food basket for the needy at Christmas, and observing Junior High classes.

SPANISH NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

The Spanish National Honor Society recognizes the students who have attained a high level of achievement in Spanish, and promotes a continued interest in the Hispanic Studies. The Society performs services to the school in the form of tutoring, and aids Latin American students in "Operation Niños."

FRENCH NATIONAL HONOR SOCIETY

The French National Honor Society fosters a strong interest in the French culture and also recognizes high achievement in the study of the French language. The monthly meeting of the club is often made more interesting by listening to records of French poetry or French opera. The members of the club tutor other French students as a part of being chosen members.

FRENCH CLUB

"Le Cercle Francois" acquaints interested students with the French culture and tries to foster an appreciation of this culture. The members have been provided with films, recorded music, and guest speakers to promote their interest. Working together on the Homecoming Float gave the club an additional goal.

DEBATING CLUB

Pennsauken High's most consistently successful competitive group is the debating team, drawn from the members of the Debating Club. Grueling research, sharp minds, and careful strategy lie behind the sleight-of-tongue act which repeatedly dazzles the competition. A meeting of this club is undoubtedly one place where both sides of a question can be heard.

Row 1: B. Mueller, R. Zackon (President), A. Cohen. Row 2: J. Barr, H. Kozlov, K. Bodner, E. Brownstein (Secretary).

STAGE CREW

The Stage Crew, responsible for all which transpires behind the scenes in the auditorium, maintained in the discharge of its duties this year the same spirited efficiency as in the previous years. The way in which the boys have responded to directors' demands helped make this another successful year on stage for Pennsauken.

Under the experienced guidance of Mr. Harbison, the members of the Political Science Club are given an opportunity to discuss contemporary political issues. Through lectures by guest speakers and informal forums they are able to air their own views and to discuss those of others.

Through such activities as listening to and discussing the works of contemporary folk artists and taking field trips to folk concerts, the club has given its members a fresh outlook on the world of literature.

FLYING CLUB

The Flying Club is Pennsauken High's newest addition. Through such activities as films of flying, field trips to airports and individual flying lessons, the members are given a new perspective of the world of flight. Advised by Miss Eileen Timoney, the club has had a successful first year.

JUNIOR BUSINESS ADMINISTRATIVE SOCIETY

These two girls were chosen for their scholastic ability and their character to join with two representatives from each school in South Jersey area at meetings held at different industries. During these meetings, which are held once a month, the representatives hear guest speakers discuss various aspects of a business career.

Jeanette Godfrey, Karen Eigenbrood.

BUSINESS EDUCATION CLUB

The Business Education Club enables interested seniors to enter the business world more easily by giving them information to supplement classroom activity. Speakers from various fields explain job opportunities available and the duties performed in these jobs. Each year, the club enters a float in the Homecoming contest and also gives a tea for the faculty in honor of Business Education Week.

CHEMISTRY CLUB

The Chemistry Club involves a group of students interested in supplementing their classroom study of chemistry. Through experiments, they are able to study both theoretical and practical chemistry, thus preparing themselves for the advanced study of chemistry in college.

FUTURE PHYSICIANS CLUB

The Future Physicians Club acquaints its members with the physician's life and the various branches of medicine. As a result of this orientation, the students will not enter the medical profession unprepared.

Row 1: K. Keller, J. Senderling (Secretary), E. Steiner (President), A. DiMaio (Vice-President), M. Daddario. Row 2: H. Mayo, J. Beale, P. Melchore, B. Grasso, D. Stober, G. Preston, L. Zonies, M. Dilmore. Row 3: J. Nardello, T. DeShields, W. Loper, M. Waidley, L. Groth, K. Valaika.

HEALTH CAREERS CLUB

The purpose of the Health Careers Club is to create an interest in and provide knowledge of medical careers for the high school student. Guest speakers on health education and careers often make the bi-monthly meetings more interesting. To show their interest, many of the members have done volunteer work in local hospitals.

CHESS CLUB

The most quiet and probably most intense meetings in our school are held by the chess club, whose members meet to play chess and discuss strategy of the game. The school's chess team is chosen from members of the club by elimination matches. In line with its purpose of encouraging people to play chess, the club sponsors the annual Pennsauken Scholastic Chess Tournament.

Row 1: A. Wainwright, B. Gilman (Vice-President), D. Rosenthal (President), E. Krystek. Row 2: C. Eckels, D. Haines, M. Orr, W. Fox, P. Gould.

RADIO CLUB

The world is a small place to Radio Club members, who communicate with fellow "Hams" all over the globe. New members are trained in the operation of an amateur radio station, and may gain experience with the club's station, WA2RCJ. A two year procurement program, at the club's expense, has greatly increased the club's range and versatility.

Row 1: A. Braytenbah (Secretary), J. Born (President), W. Kashinsky (Vice-President), D. Troxel. Row 2: D. Rosenthal, S. Henderson, R. Schmicker (Trustee), E. Krystek, W. Brink.

HORTICULTURE CLUB

Under the fine supervision of Mrs. Wood, the Horticulture Club has proved to be a great asset to PHS. The Club has undertaken the project of planting shrubs, trees, and flowers on the school grounds. While helping to beautify the school, they are also learning the scientific value of gardening.

Row 1: C. Behrens, V. Post (Secretary-Treasurer), B. Daffin (President), M. McBride (Vice-President) Row 2: A. Getz, C. Swierczak, R. Alessi.

ANNOUNCERS

The "Voices of Pennsauken" and their supporters know that more goes into the announcer's job than just a set of vocal cords. Cold mornings spent stringing telephone wire and hanging speakers were compensated for only by a penguin's eye view of the games. Despite hard bleachers and numb limbs, these homespun technicians take pride in their unusual position.

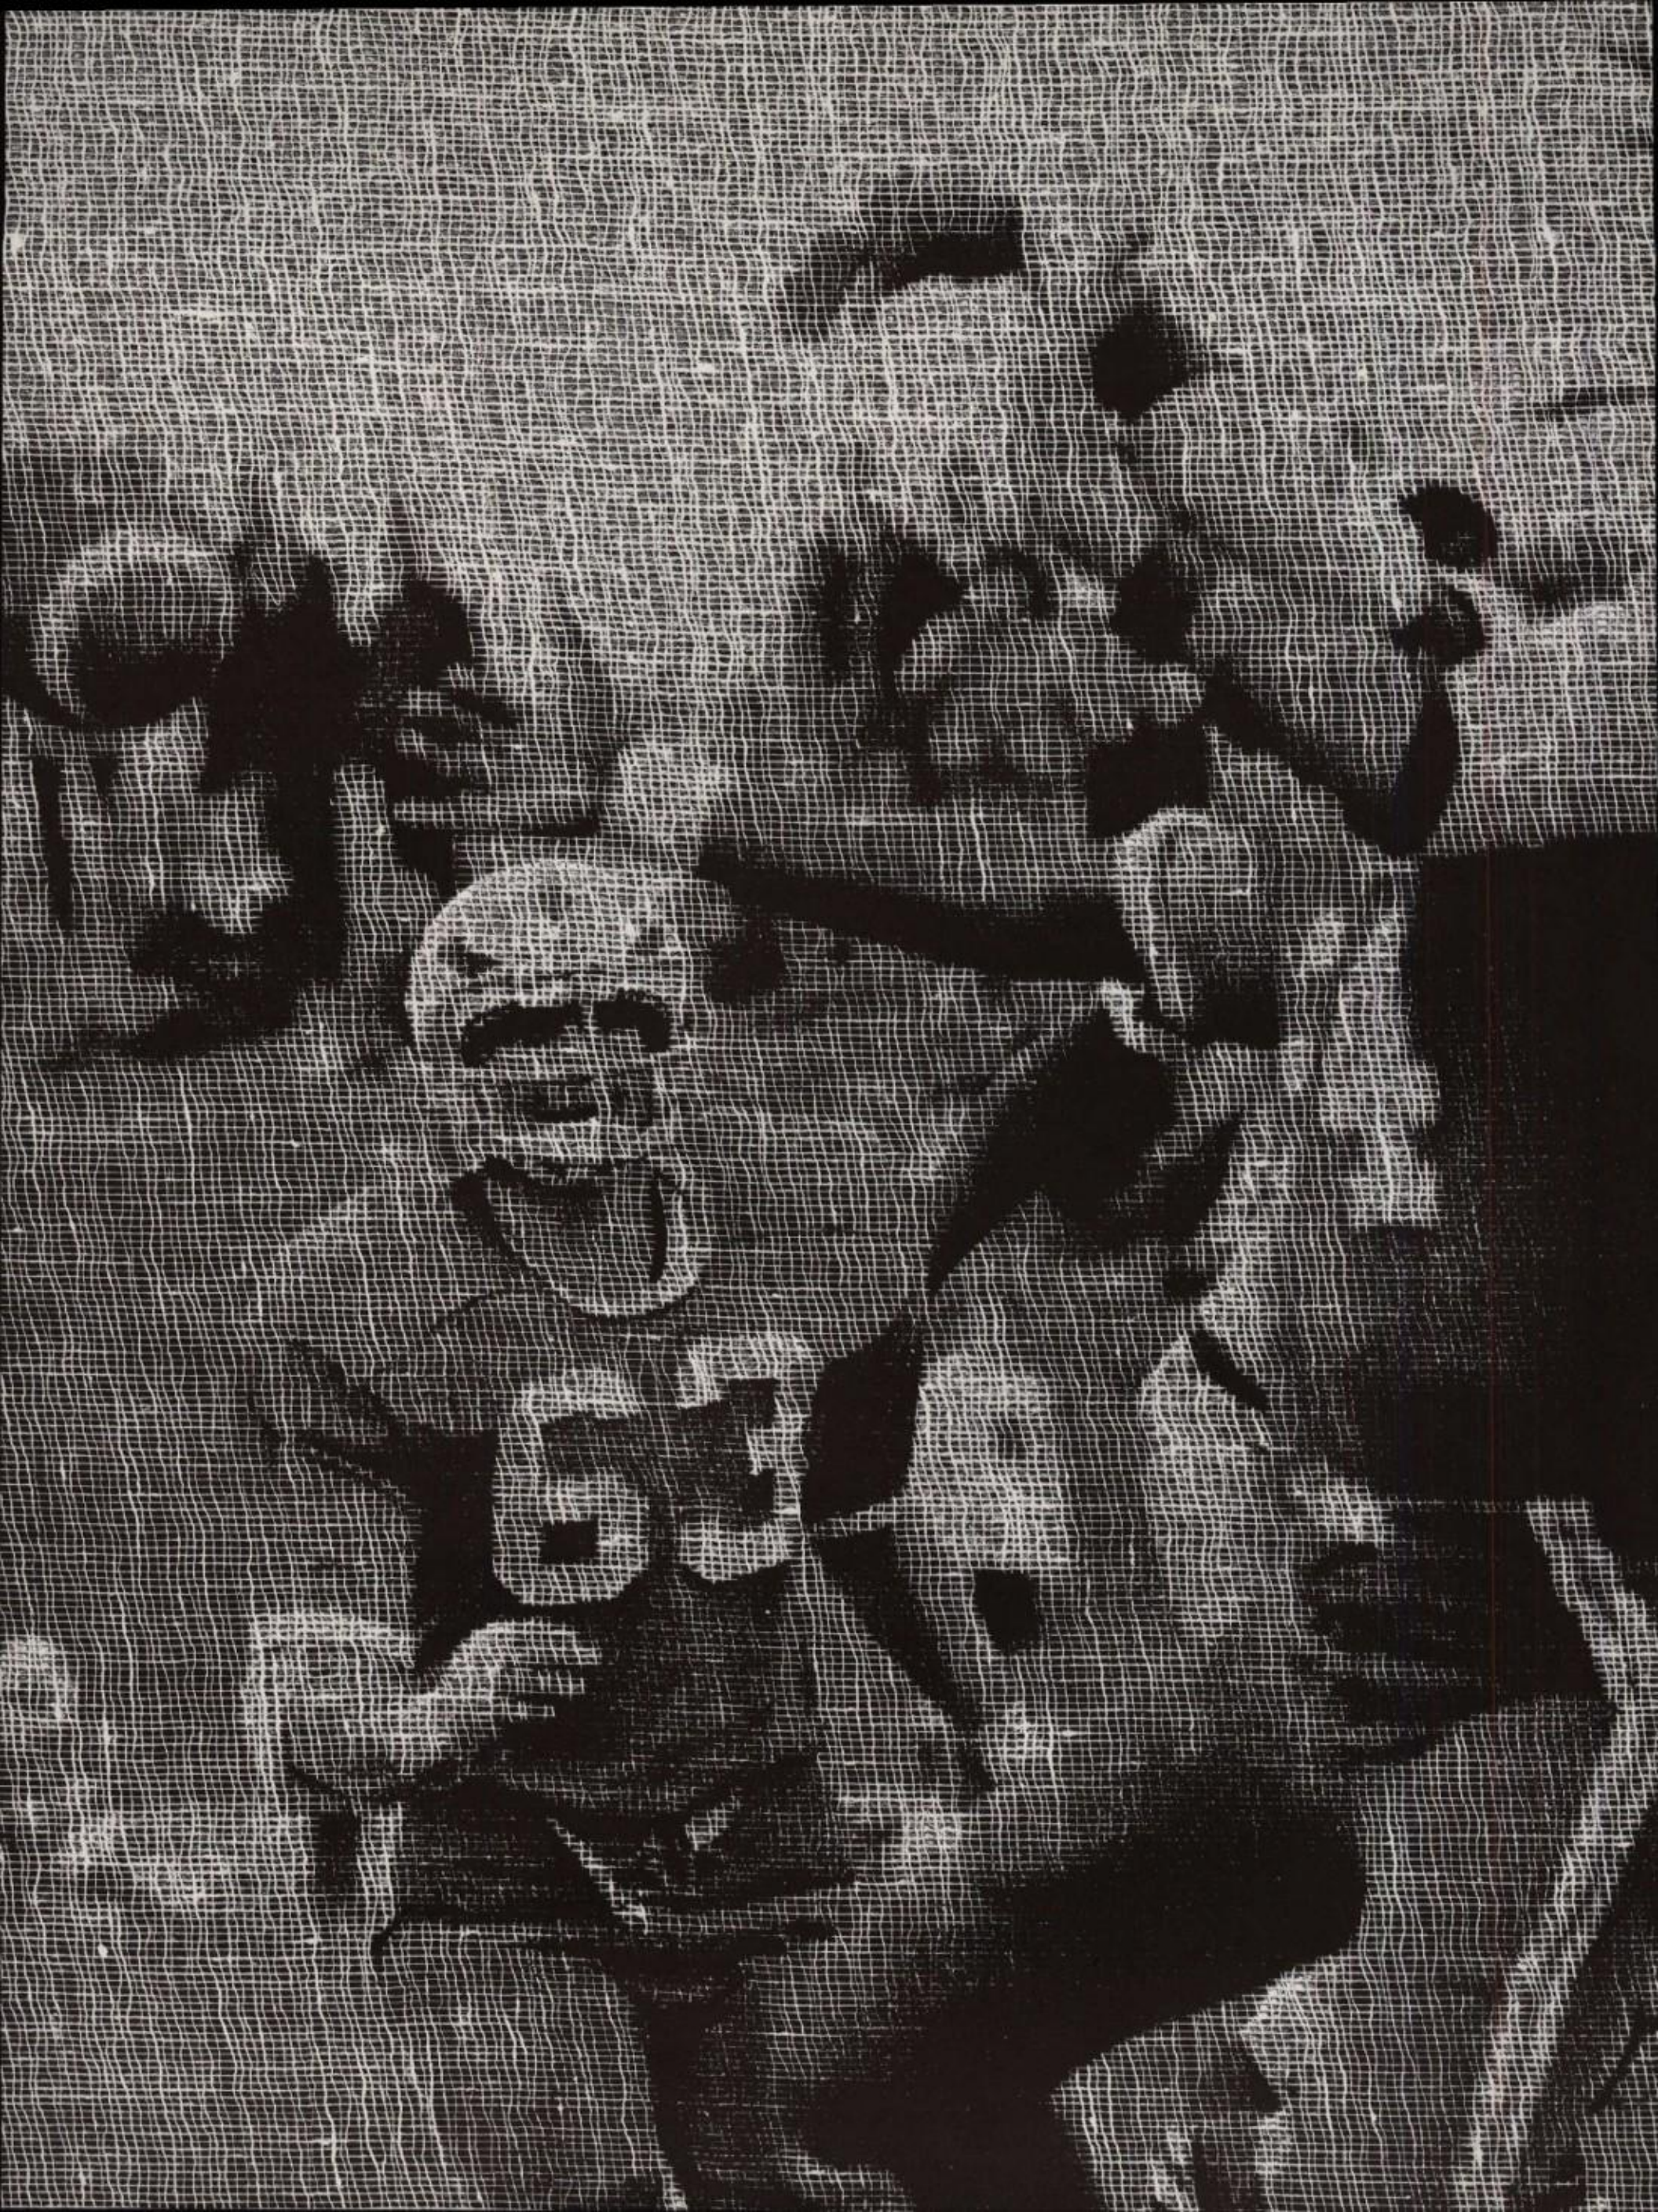

W. Fox, F. Hentschel, J. Taylor, S. Jurman.

DRAMATICS

The Drama Club was revised this year with new advisors, Mrs. Roberta Goldman and Mrs. Anyce Miles, and fresh spirit. Along with their goal of learning the techniques of play production, the members discuss and hear lectures on drama and take field trips to the theatre. The club has presented several productions during the year.

Row 1: S. Novella, R. Guggino, J. Fesq, J. Unger (Vice-President), R. Toth (Secretary-Treasurer), P. DiBenedetto, A. Guggino. Row 2: M. Arters, C. Todd, S. Seacrist, G. Austin, D. Kirshstein, W. SPORTS

SPORTS

Mr. Barndt & Mrs. Levin

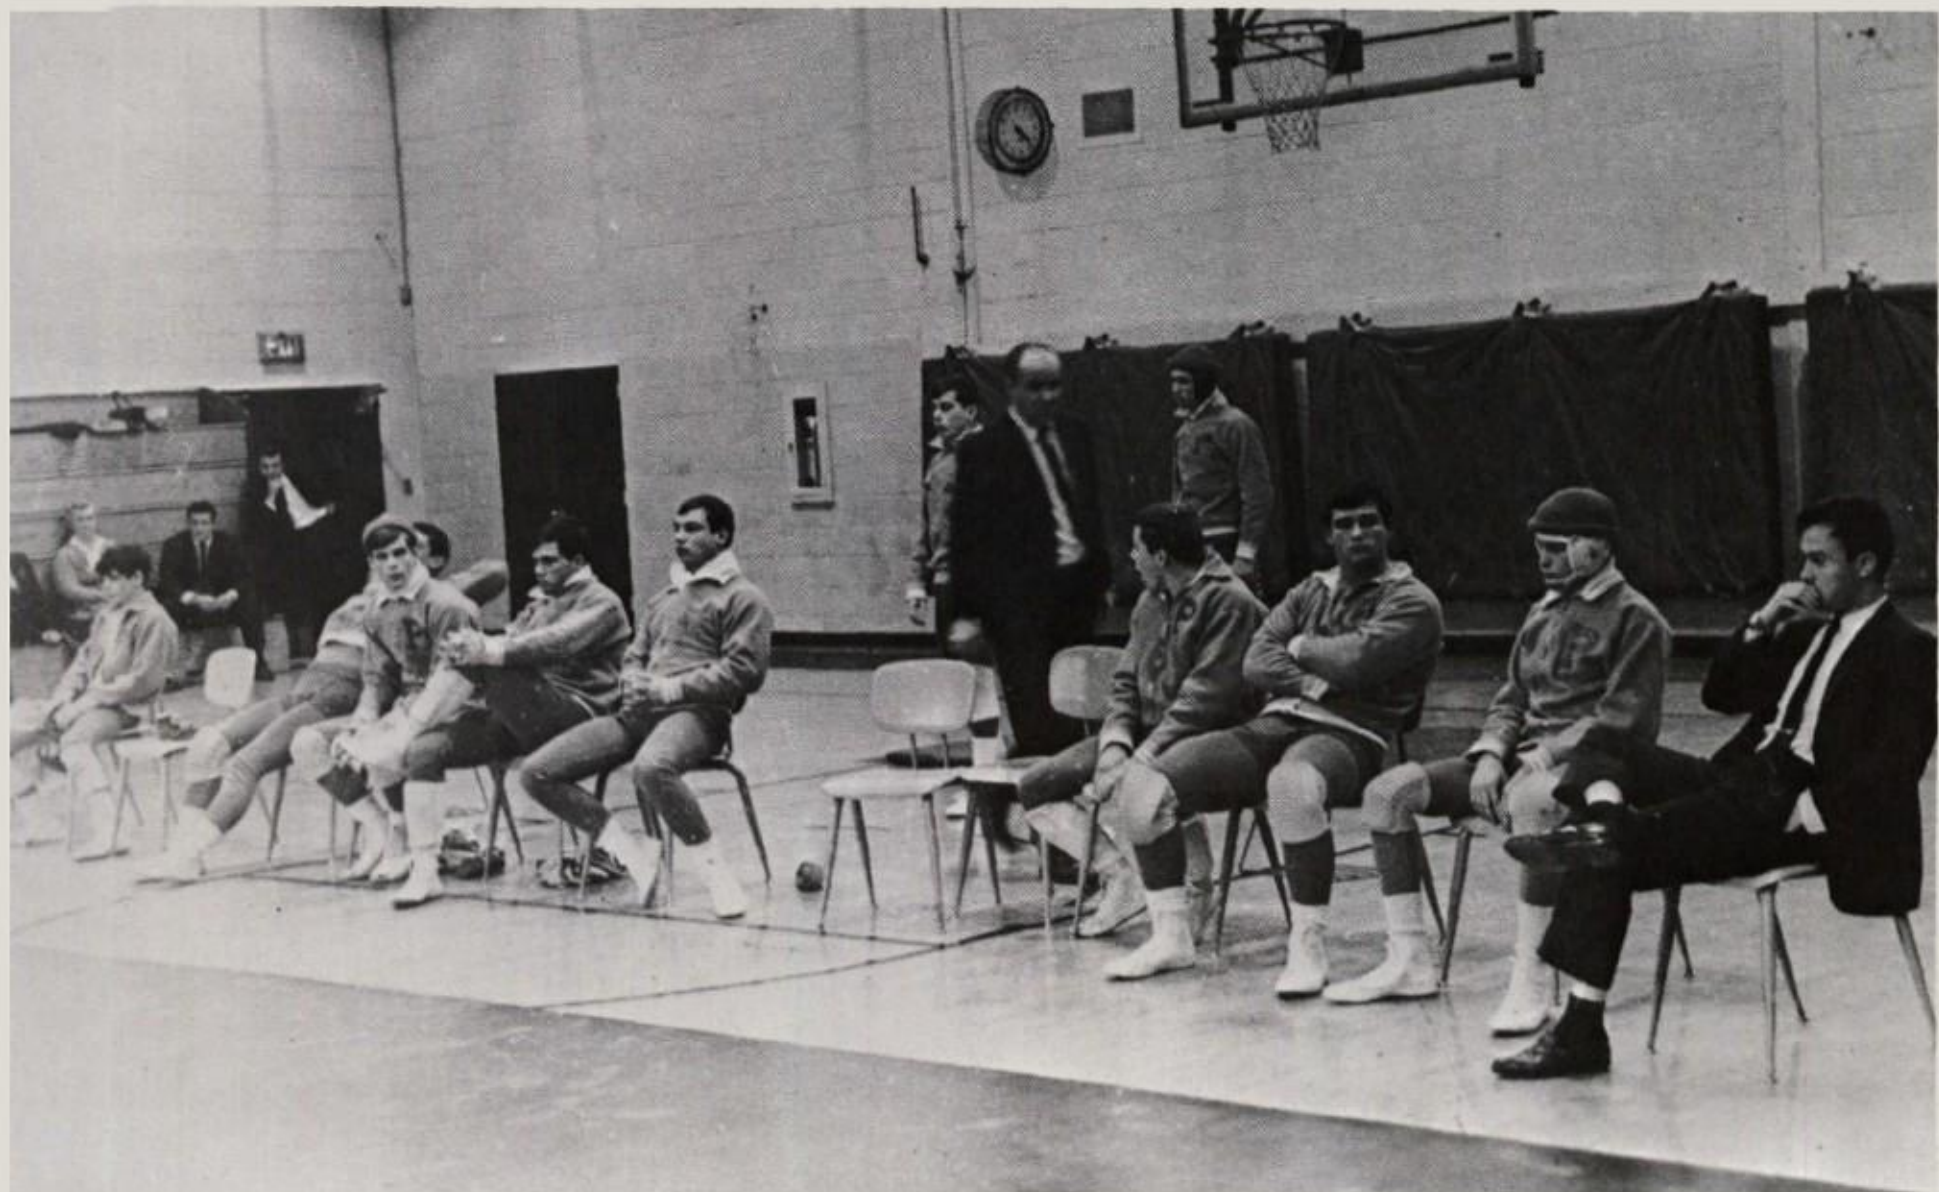

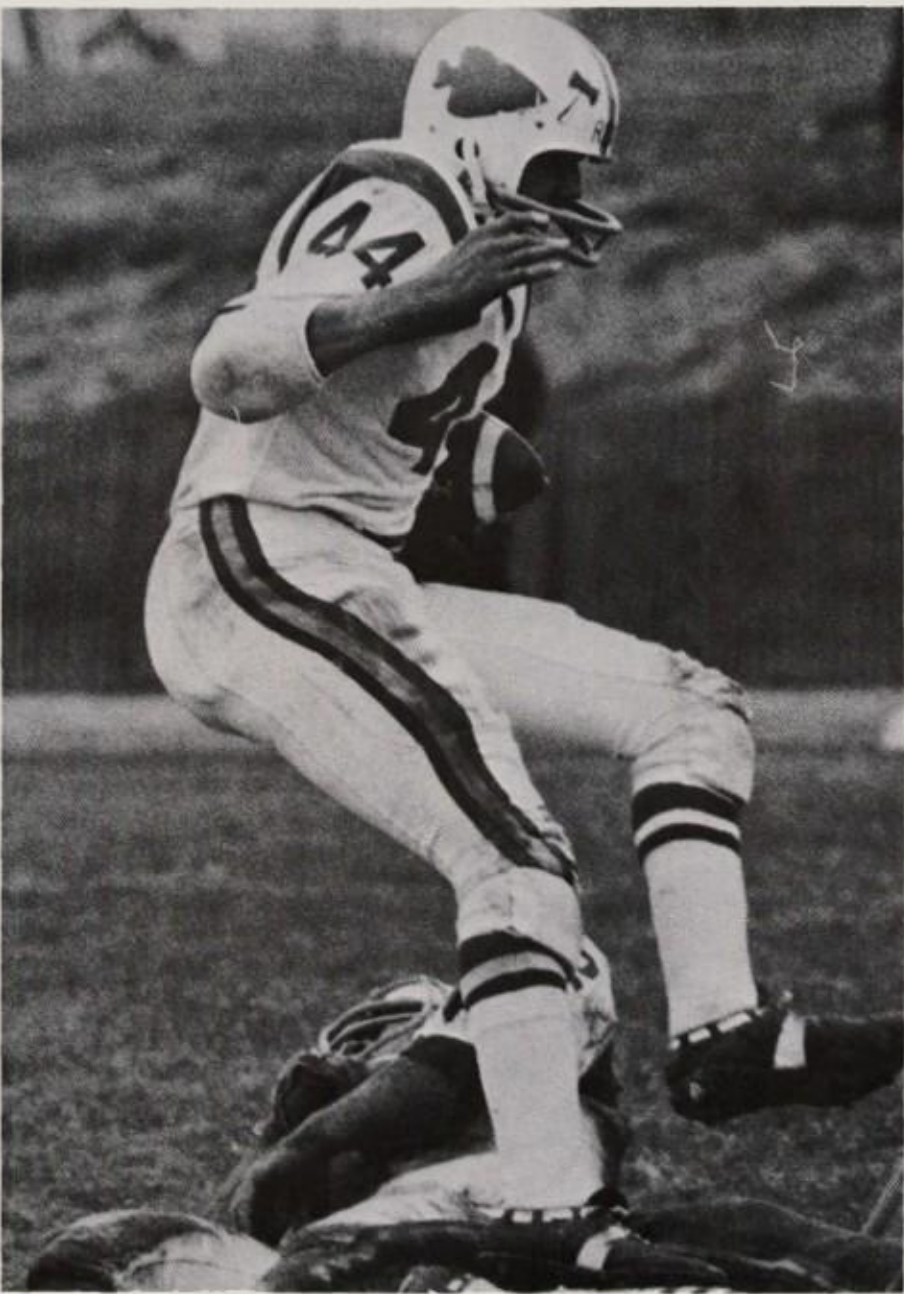

Throughout this year our expanding athletic program has been more fully developed by two very important faculty members, Mrs. Levin and Mr. Barndt. For endless hours during and after school, these two people have worked to make Pennsauken High School's sports curriculum unique. Mrs. Levin and Mr. Barndt have scheduled perimeter buses, planned spirited pep rallies, and organized all athletic practices and events. To Mrs. Levin and Mr. Barndt, the class of 1968 extends many "thankyous" and hopes for continuing success in the future years.

FOOTBALL

Hoping to retain the championship, our team was enthusiastic when it met this September. John Barbose, the new chief, was certainly the incentive for team spirit and determination. The Indians proceeded as planned to scalp their first three foes, Atlantic City, Bridgeton, and Oakcrest. However, a spirited Millville team surprised the undefeated tribe. Pennsauken "bounced back" to the dismay of their next opponents by registering three straight shutouts and one overpowering victory over Vineland. The highlight of these victories was the outstanding triumph over Camden Catholic. Although Cherry Hill West defeated Pennsauken in the final game of the season, the Indians were a worthy opponent and will surely regain our record as Group Four Champions next year.

"Hockey is a running game" was a familiar outcry on the hockey field of 1967. This year's team has been aided by techniques and skills brought back from summer hockey camp by center forward Maurine Varble and wings, Liz Kershner and Nancy Stahler. Although the team is losing varsity players Linda Simmington and Maurine Verble and many other hard-working seniors, it still has retained many of its outstanding players for next year's team.

BASKETBALL

Mr. Ike Willis, Varsity Coach

Mr. Ted Joya, Junior Varsity Coach

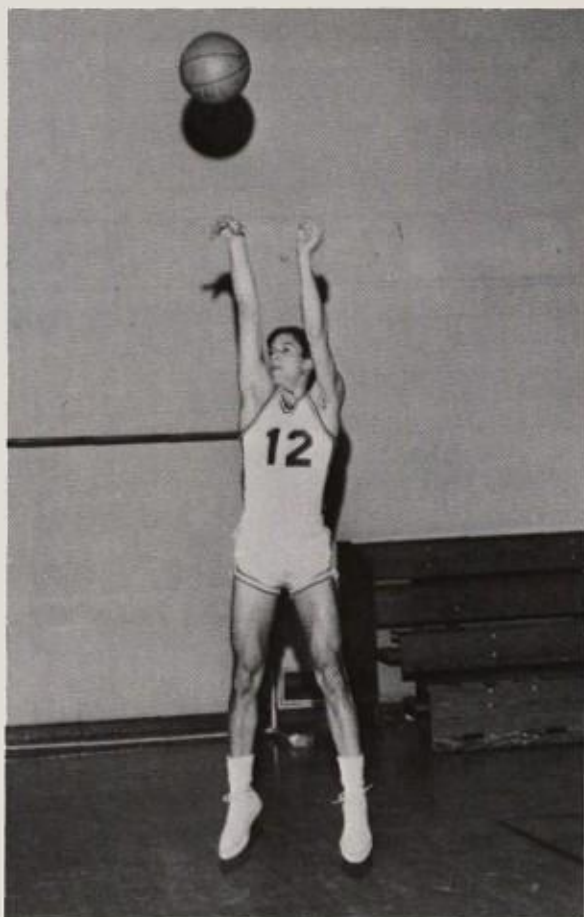

The Varsity Basketball team had another hard year. Under the leadership of their new coach, Robert Willis, who coached successful basketball seasons for five years at PJH, the Indians began their season by winning two of the first three games and ended it by scalping Bridgeton. After finishing a disappointing second in the Holiday Tournament, the team fell into the hands of unyielding opponents.

The team will surely miss standouts Mike Taylor, Bill McCloskey and Barry Toms, but Coach Willis looks to his strong Junior Varsity team to come to the rescue.

GIRLS BASKETBALL

The Girls Basketball team has gradually progressed throughout its existence at Pennsauken High School. With co-captains Nancy Stahler and Donna Campbell and seniors Diane Taylor and Louise Quinn, the team got off to a successful start. Aiding the varsity squad this year were these energetic juniors: Karen Fitzpatrick, Nancy Indriso, Linda Makin and Joyce Tannahill, who will form the nucleus of next year's team. Of course, no team can function without a competent coach, and the girls basketball team had a very able and hard-working leader in Mrs. Maren Landry.

The PHS Track Team has just completed its fifth year. The head coach of our powerful team was Mr. Richard Wolff. Assisting him were Mr. Robert Willis and Mr. Lou Ricks.

This year the team was led by Senior standouts Joe Benci, record holder in the discus, Tom Rowe, present possessor of the school record in the javelin, and Rich Marlor. Others who led the team to victory were Seniors Dave Wilkers, Bill Wilson and Bob Schmicker. Underclassmen who sparked the team were Bill Ely, Kevin Hinson, Jim Geserick, and Jeff Capron.

The Girls Tennis team, under the fine coaching of Mrs. Maren Landry, has advanced a great deal during its short years. Beginning as just a club, the players have improved so much that they have formed a team. This is the third year that the group has played against other schools. Although the team now practices as a group only when the boys are not on the courts, the girls hope to receive a steady practice schedule this coming year.

LEGEND ADVISORS

Mrs. Linda Kurtz, Literary Advisor

MRS. KURTZ

To create a successful yearbook takes not only the coordinated efforts of a group of students, but more important, the help and guidance of an able advisor. This year the Legend Staff was fortunate in having a person who took a very active part in the planning and publication of the yearbook. The success of the 1968 Legend is due in large part to the energy and encouragement of Mrs. Linda Kurtz.

MR. KELLEY

The financial aspect of producing the 1968 Legend was very important to its success. We needed someone who would accept the responsibilities of patron collections, yearbook sales, and general financing of the yearbook. The business staff was fortunate in having Mr. Andrew Kelley as financial advisor. His sincere interest and thoughtful advice were greatly appreciated by all those connected with the publication of the 1968 Legend.

Just a year ago, the Editorial Board met for the first time to plan for the 1968 Legend. Since that time, the seemingly impossible task of creating a yearbook has been successfully accomplished. The work done by the editors on senior pictures and write-ups, as well as activities and sports photographs, has given them a feeling of satisfaction, despite the many hectic hours before deadlines.

There were many others who contributed their time and efforts to make this yearbook a special one. Mr. Kelley, Mr. Inacker, and, of course, Mrs. Kurtz, have done much for the Legend, in guidance as well as in actual work.

The total result is the 1968 Legend; a book which has given a number of us warm memories and, it is hoped, will call to mind fond remembrances of our high school days in the years to come.

Sue Lechleidner, Business Manager, and Jean McGeehan, Assistant Business Manager

EDITOR'S MESSAGE

In producing this yearbook, we have tried to capture our four most memorable years at Pennsauken. I hope in the future we can look through this yearbook and remember the football games, lunches, favorite classes and teachers, or old romances. The purpose of this yearbook is to enable us to look back at our high school years with fondness.

After twelve years of schooling, we have reached the points in our lives when we must now seek our future interests. Some of us will continue in school, some will go into industry and business, and others will join the armed forces. After high school we may never see the people with whom we have shared our good times and our sad moments. As we leave Pennsauken High School, I sincerely hope that we never lose contact with each other and that we never forget the great moments we have spent here.

I would like to thank the individual editors for their co-operation, hard work, and patience. To name their individual contributions would require a book in itself. Thanks must be given to Mr. Frank Wick, photographer, who has provided the excellent black and white and color pictures throughout the book. Mr. Andrew Kelley also has our appreciation. His management of our financial affairs made expensive items possible, such as the color pictures. Special recognition must be given to Mr. Inacker, who guided us through many periods of indecision. Most important of these people is Mrs. Kurtz, for without her help, this book would not approach the quality that it has. No work or responsibility was too great for her. Also, I would like to thank the members of the Class of '68 for making our class what it is—the greatest.

Fabiene Hunter

CAMDEN COUNTY JUNIOR MISS

Early last November, the Student Council members were asked to select five senior girls as nominees for Pennsauken High School's Junior Miss. Little did they realize that one of their choices would eventually go on to the New Jersey Junior Miss competition.

The first step was a talent contest before PHS faculty members. After careful consideration, Fabiene Hunter was chosen to represent Pennsauken High School in the Camden County Junior Miss competition. Participating in this pageant, sponsored annually by the Collingswood-Haddon Township Jaycees, were fifteen girls from high schools throughout Camden County.

On the evening of November 25, 1967, the contestants were judged in the categories of scholarship, poise, and talent. Fabiene's assets won the approval of the judges, who selected her as Camden County Junior Miss. Her vibrant personality was also recognized by her fellow contestants, who chose her as Most Congenial.

Now on to the State Competition! Monday, January 15, 1968, began a week of competition, education, and fun for the eighteen county representatives who were guests of the city of Elizabeth. The girls were taken into the homes of the local Jaycees and Jaycettes. They were kept on the go from morning 'til night with tours, conferences, and more tours. The girls hardly had time to rest.

Finally Friday night arrived. The first night of competition eliminated ten of the girls, leaving Fabiene and seven others. The second night of the pageant was a repeat performance of talent and appearance entries.

Fabiene sang her way into the hearts of both the talent judges and her fellow contestants. She was awarded the New Jersey Junior Miss Pageant Spirit Award, and New Jersey Junior Miss Pageant Best Talent Award.

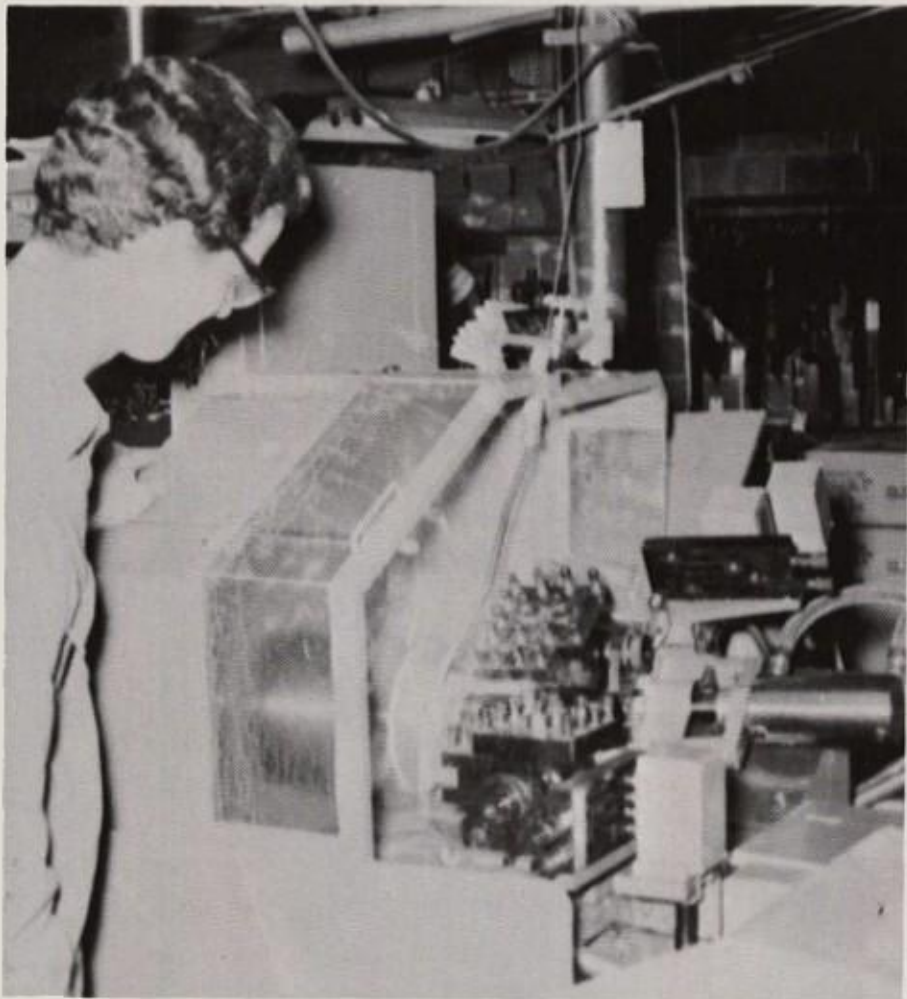

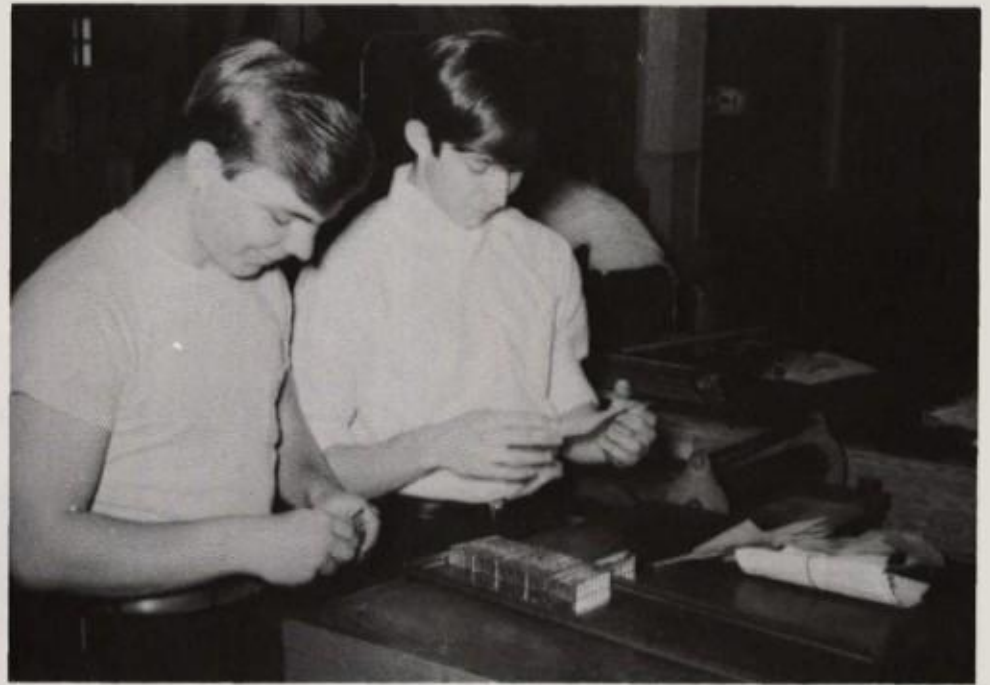

Though Fabiene was not chosen to represent the state of New Jersey, she has had a "wonderful experience" which she will never forget. She has formed many friendships which mean almost as much to her as her part in the Pageant itself.

COOPERATIVE INDUSTRIAL EDUCATION

Mr. Ryczkowski

Preparation for entrance into trade employment which offers long term opportunities for growth and advancement is a basic objective of this program. School subjects scheduled for student-learners in the high school include regular school offerings and courses which relate directly to their part-time employment. Students enrolled in this program receive the credits necessary to qualify them for a high school diploma.
